Inside The Miss Grayling Pageant

This week the Queens Committee is working hard on their Scholarship Fund, and among activities planned for this week is a final selection to enlarge this fund. Please be generous when you are called upon by a committee member. All funds will be combined so we may present MISS GRAYLING 1966 with this scholarship so she may pursue her education in whatever field or endeavor she so chooses. We are sure you will agree that this is a very worthwhile effort, and we are also sure that you will definitely want to be a part of this presentation.

Your Queens Committee is available to any girl entering this pageant, and they will be happy to help her in any way possible. It is in her talent, competition, wardrobe, etc.

Official entry blanks are available until November 15th, at the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce office at the Grayling City Hall or Mrs. Ray Elsey, 90 Grayling Pharmacy. Entry blanks must be returned by November 15th.

MISS GRAYLING 1966 will be crowned at the "Polyhedron Ball" on Saturday evening, November 27th. This is a community activity and all efforts of the community to make this a successful affair will be appreciated by everyone. You who are present that evening will be thrilled not only by the crowning of MISS GRAYLING 1966 but also by the actual viewing of the final selection by the judges from the semi-finalists. Remember the date — Saturday evening, November 27th.

Watch this spot next week for an actual inside peek at the first of our contestants.

MYSTERY MAN TO SHOW POWERS OF HYPNOTISM

What do you think you would do in a hypnotic trance? Merlin, the Hypnotist, who is appearing at the Grayling High School on Wednesday, Nov. 3, at 8:00 p. m. will call a number of willing volunteers from the audience. While under hypnosis, they will shiver with cold, see a motion picture and other uncanny demonstrations, which Merlin achieves through the power of suggestion.

A FEATURE of the show is to make a volunteer stiff as a board, then stretch him between two chairs — his head on the edge of one chair, and his heels on the edge of the other. Then Merlin stands on the person's stomach. After it's all over, the volunteer remembers the demonstration as though it had taken place in a dream. To demonstrate the power of post hypnotic suggestion, Merlin tells the volunteers that their right foot will be fastened to the floor when they try to leave the stage. They find it impossible to leave the stage until Merlin breaks the spell.

Merlin is one of the few magicians who has mastered mass hypnotism, which is generally considered to be the most difficult of all the magician's accomplishments. Instead of escaping from a thoroughly examined and padded box, as the Great Houdini used to, Merlin locks a young lady in the box, and then in a matter of seconds, the lady is out and Merlin is in. The box is unlocked, the lid removed, and out jumps Merlin.

Another feature of the show is Erna, the Princess of Magic, who has mastered the Hindu Basket mystery.

Happy To Join Wise Owl Club

Mr. W. J. Kamenar was honored at a special luncheon Monday of last week at the Chief Shoppens Motor Hotel, Grayling, for his acceptance into the exclusive Wise Owl Club of America. A Wise Owl is one whose eyesight was saved from injury through use of safety glasses.

MR. KAMENAR, a resident of Saginaw, is an employee of Western Electric Company and one of a highly trained team of men who install intricate telephone central office equipment. He was working at Skyline communications center on June 18, 1965, when the drill bit in the electric drill he was using caught and broke. The broken bit struck Mr. Kamenar's safety glasses and shattered the left lens.

These glasses are designed to withstand the impact of a one-inch steel ball dropped from a height of 50 inches.

the occasion to express Western Electric's concern for making employees safety conscious and stated that Mr. Kamenar's experience emphasized the importance of wearing safety glasses at all times when on the job.

Also present from Western Electric's Installation organization were V. A. Pelson, Personnel Supervisor, R. L. Irwin, Installation Supervisor, and A. L. Leonard, Job Steward for the installers.

Educators Attend Science Program

Several area educators were among 76 chemistry, science and physics teachers who attended a discussion at Hidden Valley Lodge, Gaylord, on Thursday, concerning new classroom science teaching aids.

The program sponsored jointly by General Telephone and Michigan Bell Telephone Companies was attended by Michael Weiland and Patrick Cox of the Grayling School system.

A discussion of the concept relating to conductors, semiconductors and crystallography was presented by Dr. T. Wayne Taylor, associate professor of science and mathematics teaching center of the Michigan State University. Dr. Jane Smith, associate professor of College of Natural Science, M. S. U.; Dr. Julian R. Brandt, assistant professor of science and mathematics teaching center and Mr. Gerald R. Post, valuation and cost engineering, General Telephone Co. The discussion covered new material relating to the properties of conductors, semiconductors and non-conductors and demonstration of such phenomena as thermal effect, resistance, how transistors work, and classroom growing of crystals.

An advanced student experiment, Crystal and Light, was also presented.

I Can Write Reading . . . Can You Read Writing?

Friends of the Library who participated in the magazine review program held at the Friends' meeting on Tuesday had to be able to read writing in 68 different magazines. According to the Harris Survey taken in June, 46% of those interviewed were concerned because they did "too little reading," 41% stated they "waste too much time," while 33% indicated they spent too much time looking at TV. The only way you can learn to read is to practice reading, and it is a personal responsibility to find the time.

LIBRARY hours were discussed, noting that Crawford County Library is open 30 hours a week and the High School Library 40 hours. Thanks are extended to Mrs. W. Edward Myers for the donations of wood carvings, vases and flowers given for display purposes in the library.

Our librarians would appreciate any volunteer help during library hours to paste pockets, recover books and file cards and magazines.

As the Friends of the Library group grows the need for folding chairs becomes acute. Please bring any folding chairs you might care to loan or donate to the library. Plans are being made to use the meeting room in the basement.

Cider and donuts were served compliments of Mrs. Bill Joseph. Join your Friends of the Library in November.

Grayling Sixth Grade Sends Box to Viet Nam

Mrs. Kenneth Ashton's section of the Sixth Grade at the Elementary School is studying Viet Nam at present. Naturally one member of the class, Polly Jensen, had a personal interest as her brother, "Butch" Jensen, is serving with the U. S. Marines in that country in the present conflict. He was wounded by shrapnel last month and spent some time in the hospital, but according to his folks, the Leonard Jensens at Hartwick Pines, Butch is back on the firing line, recovered from his wound.

The Sixth Grade children last week packed a box of cookies, candy and date bread and mailed it to Private Jensen, in Viet Nam. We predict that he will be a member of the team with his fellow

Al Moore Retires Friday After 33 Years

Alvin H. Moore, 64, of 705 Plum Street, Grayling, retires, Friday, October 29th, as foreman at Grayling Fish Hatchery. He has been employed by the Michigan Department of Conservation since Aug. 23, 1932.

Mr. Moore started work for the department as a truck driver and has worked on planting crews all over the State. Often in the beginning he worked seven days a week and as many hours each day as were required to complete the work. Many times he caught a few hours' sleep while the crew and truck were being ferried across the Straits of Mackinac and then began a new work day.

He was originally stationed at Harrietta Hatchery but transferred to Grayling in 1951 and has made his home here since that time. During World War II he left the department to work in a defense plant manufacturing airplane propellers. A veteran of World War I, he had sons fighting in World War II. He returned to his job with the Conservation Department in May of 1945, after an absence of 34 months.

Mr. Moore also served in the Michigan National Guard for 10 years and has been active in American Legion activities. At present he is commander of the 10th District of Michigan. He also is past commander of American Legion Post No. 106 and past Chief De Gare of Vulture 1495. In addition he has been an active member of the Michigan Grange, being a past master of Pomona Grange of Crawford and Kalkaska Counties and past master of Crawford County Grange 934.

He is also an avid bowler, bowling in two leagues for many years. The teams he bowls on has been together for about 12 years. With his wife, Beryl, the Moores have reared a family of seven children. They plan to travel but will continue to make their home in Grayling.

On Wednesday, October 27th, about 50 co-workers and former associates with their wives, gathered at Wirt's Lone Pine Inn for a retirement dinner honoring the Moores. An appropriate gift was presented to Mr. Moore by the group.

PARENTS & STUDENTS INVITED TO PROGRAM

Parents and students are invited to attend a "College Night Program" to be held in Potoskey on Tuesday evening, November 2nd, at 7:30 p. m. in the high school auditorium. There will be three 40 minute periods for those attending to visit with representatives of over 30 colleges, hospitals, business schools and other training institutions in Michigan. There will also be a browsing period at the close in order that students may quickly visit other college representatives and pick up helpful literature.

AMONG the questions to be answered are:
What are the entrance requirements?
Are College entrance exams required?
How much is the tuition, room, board and other expenses?
How many years to complete a particular course?
What placement services are offered by these institutions?
What guidance services are offered?
What students work part time?
What extra curricular activities are available?
Must you live on campus in the freshman year?
Are automobiles allowed, plus many other important questions?

If parents feel that other students below the Junior in high school level would benefit from attending they are cordially invited too.

Many Changes At Former Grayling Fish Hatchery

Many changes have taken place in the past few months at the Grayling Research Station, a unit of the Research and Development Section of the Michigan Department of Conservation. The station was established during the reorganization of the department primarily for expansion of the study of fish diseases and related problems and is temporarily located in the Grayling Fish Hatchery building. The Fish Hatchery building has been housed in the building since 1948 when Dr. Leonard N. Allison was named fish pathologist for Michigan. Dr. Allison was a district fisheries biologist for six years prior to that time.

EDWARD E. SCHULTZ, biologist, who moved to Grayling in February from Ann Arbor, is in charge of the Bioelectronic Laboratory. He designs, constructs and maintains electrofishing gear and telemetry, equipment used in tracking game animals electronically. Mr. Schultz received his Master's Degree in Forestry and Wildlife Management from the University of Michigan in 1950 and has been with the Conservation Department since May, 1951. He was a fisheries biologist with the Institute for Fisheries Research in Ann Arbor until moving to Grayling.

Parasitologist John G. Hnath joined the staff in late September after completing work for his Master's Degree at Wayne State University. He expects to receive his degree on December 14th at the next commencement of WSU. He came to Michigan from Pennsylvania in September, 1963, after receiving his B. S. Degree from Geneva College, Beaver Falls, Pa., and was a graduate assistant at Wayne while completing work on his M. A.

Recent additions to the staff are Fish Culturists Basil Hubbell of Roscommon and Fred L. Bishaw of Grayling. Both of these men were formerly with the Grayling Fish Hatchery — each with more than 20 years of service with the Conservation Department.

Mrs. Marian McMillen is the clerical worker for the station. Prior to July 1st she was also clerk in the office of the Fish Hatchery.

Other units of the Conservation Department located in the Grayling Fish Hatchery building include the Fish Section under supervision of Barrie D. Engel; Forestry Section under supervision of William Tarr; Area Game Habitat Biologist Harold Dykema and Area Fish Habitat Biologist Russell S. Lincoln. The office of the United States Geological Survey is also located on the second floor. All these units will continue operating from the building.

Lose To Charlevoix Here 19-6

The Grayling Vikings after having their homecoming dimmed by the Charlevoix Raiders 19 to 6 were making plans this week for their long trip north to meet the Harbor Springs Rams on Friday night.

In their conference action last Friday night, Harbor Springs stopped the East Jordan Red Devils 14 to 7, Gaylord thumped the Mancelona Ironmen 30 to 0 and Boyne City wore down the Pellston Hornets 47 to 25. This week in loop play besides the Vikings, Rams fray, Gaylord is at Boyne City, Charlevoix at East Jordan and Mancelona at Pellston for a battle of the basement dwellers.

Gaylord could very easily upset the dope bucket against the Ramblers who got back on the winning stride last week, Charlevoix should continue their victory skid against East Jordan and the Ironmen-Hornet contest is a tossup.

Grayling will have its hands full with a big, strong Harbor Ram eleven. In action this season against like opponents, the Vikings and Rams are quite close to equal. With the game on their home field, the Rams have a slight edge unless Grayling comes up with a strong, headsup performance.

Last Friday night under the lights at the Grayling Memorial Recreation Area gridiron, it was mostly Viking errors that allowed the Charlevoix Raiders to hurt the Grayling Homecoming celebration.

The Grayling defense turned in an outstanding job and Chauncey Carr, a sophomore defensive lineman, was named Grayling's outstanding player of the game. He turned in seven tackles and helped to halt Charlevoix's running game.

The Raiders scored the second time they had the ball after recovering a Viking fumble at the 40 yard line. After one play, Burgoyne, Rayder back scooted 36 yards for the touchdown, the point after was missed and Charlevoix led 6 to 0.

In the second frame after Grayling had ground out two consecutive first downs, the ball was fumbled again with the Raiders taking over on the Viking 20. On the second play, Burgoyne again scored. This time on a reverse through the line that fooled the over shifting Viking defense. Again the point was missed and Charlevoix had a 12 to 0 halftime lead.

The third quarter was all defense although Grayling threatened three times. Long passes, two to Bailey and one to Netters had "touchdown" written all over them as the two Viking receivers got by all of the Charlevoix defenders. In each case the ball was dropped.

Late in the fourth quarter, the Raiders picked off a misdirected Viking aerial to get the ball. The Viking defense twice halted the Charlevoix advance. With fourth down, a little flare pass got the Raiders to the 3 yard line and a first down, again the Viking line rose up and halted three Rayders plays leaving it fourth down and 2 to go. A quarterback option with Smith rolling left just squeezed into the end zone. They kicked the point and took a 19 to 0 lead.

On the last play of the game, Grayling scored. It was preceded by a long pass to Netters following the Charlevoix kickoff. The play was good for about 50 yards from the Vikings' 15 yard line. A flare pass to John Sorenson followed by some excellent down field blocking allowed the Viking halfback to score from the 40 yard line. A fake kick with a pass misfire and the final score was Charlevoix 19, Grayling 6.

Netters and Halstead each intercepted Rayder passes and Smock grabbed a Charlevoix fumble. Wright with 6 tackles and Hatfield with 7 made it tough going for Charlevoix through the middle. Netters made 116 yards in 10 carries, Bailey 43 on 4 and Sorenson 42 on 3 with a touchdown.

Kiwanis Club Notes
By Wes LaGrow

This week's meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Grayling was held Monday evening at the Chief Shoppens Motor Hotel. Lawrence "Bud" Hunter was in charge of the program.

He introduced Mr. James Powell of the National Federation of Business. Mr. Powell, of Toledo, Ohio, is the District Manager for the Federation in this area. He spoke to the club on the many facets in the business field in which government action is changing the picture.

The Kiwanis Club would like old toys that can be repaired for the club's Christmas project for underprivileged children. Such toys may be left at the Grayling High School shop room.

Local Bowler Qualifies In B. P. A. Tournament

Last Saturday and Sunday, Glenn Sawyer representing the Legion Lanes of Grayling, competed against 21 of the finest bowlers in Northern Michigan, representing 13 different communities, in a 24 game elimination tournament sponsored by the Bowling Proprietors of America at the Chervin Lanes in Roscommon. Glenn fired 6 game blocks of 96, 112, 113, and 1206 to advance to the final round.

The eight highest qualifiers based on 24 game actual totals will return to Roscommon next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock to bowl 16 more games in head to head competition to determine the finalist that will represent Northern Michigan in the National All Star Singles.

Championship is to be held at the Joe Joseph Lanes in Lansing, Michigan. The top eight qualifier averaged 189 for the first elimination round which gives one some indication of the ability of the entrants, so if you enjoy seeing bowling at its best, plan to take in the finals of this event. It'll be well worth the trip.

HALLOWE'EN PARADE
Friday — The elementary school Halloween parade will leave from the school at 1:15, go through the hospital drive, down Ottawa Street to Plum, down Plum to Michigan Avenue, and back to the school. The high school band will lead the parade.

CLOSING NOTICE
The area office of the Secretary of State located in the Gould Cleaners building, will be closed on Thursdays from now on, instead of Tuesdays as in the past.

Homecoming Royalty Named

Seniors Janice Stewart and Bob Smock were crowned Homecoming queen and king at the afterglow dance in the gym on Friday night. Chamber of Commerce manager Earl Longworth placed their crowns and seated the royal pair.

The Tenth Grade won first prize with their Tiger float in the Homecoming parade Friday afternoon, the Eighth Grade placed second with their Clock float, and the Seventh Grade float of a Viking ship placed third.

About Red Cross and Volunteers

Sailors sometimes joke that there are just three things you have to remember to get along in the Navy: "Salute everything that moves, paint everything that doesn't, and never, never volunteer." Of course, this rule assumes that volunteer assignments are always unpleasant, which of course, just ain't necessarily so. Ask any RED CROSS volunteer.

These people like their jobs so well that they do them without pay . . . and do them very well, too. You'll find RED CROSS volunteers working in hospitals assisting nurses and doctors, doing necessary clerical work, and supervising patient recreation activities. You'll find RED CROSS volunteers working in military camps everywhere. You'll find RED CROSS volunteers manning first aid stations and making clothes for homeless refugees. In fact, you'll find RED CROSS volunteers wherever you find the RED CROSS itself. And wherever people need help, the RED CROSS is there, with your help.

HOSPITAL PATIENTS, servicemen, veterans, and disaster workers all know what RED CROSS Volunteers are like . . . helpful, understanding, well-trained people who do their jobs with a minimum of fanfare. Volunteers' help make one RED CROSS dollar do the work of many dollars. With more volunteers and your help . . . the RED CROSS is always there. When your local volunteer calls on you, PLEASE BE GENEROUS.

Hospitals and surgery patients will need vast quantities of blood again this year. The RED CROSS will collect and distribute 26 million units of it.

Pick any month, and you'll find disaster has struck leaving in its wake death and destruction. And, as always, the RED CROSS is there to help. Where will it be next? Africa? Asia? South America? . . . or your community? Wherever in the world disaster strikes, you can be sure the RED CROSS will be there . . . with your help.

Local volunteer Charles Fick has been awarded a two gallon pin, it is announced by Derek McEvers, Blood Program Chairman.

County chairman, Mrs. Denise McEvers and Drive Chairman, Mrs. Therese Goss thank the Grayling State Bank for sponsoring the coffee hour to kick off the Red Cross Drive.

Third Camp Escapee Arrested In Illinois

Two of the three were apprehended the next day near Grayling, but, Raymond Nowicki escaped the dragnet. He was arrested in Illinois after an attempted bank robbery. It is expected that he will face prosecution there and not be brought back to Michigan.

Sheriff Clough also reports three car-door accidents in the area over the weekend. Two occurred Sunday evening, the third early Monday. One happened just off M-72 east, another on old US-27 south of the Big Wheel junction, the third on M-72 west in Kalkaska County. In one of the accidents, the car overturned and the driver suffered bruises. Property damage in all three was reported as high.

Mich. Con Gas Tells Of Further Expansion

Michigan Consolidated Gas Company today announced plans to extend natural gas service to seven communities in the central and northern part of the Lower Peninsula next year.

James C. Preston, general manager of the utility's Northern District, said the company will invest nearly $2 million to bring natural gas to Higgins Lake, Rose City, Hale, Howard City, Trufant, Gowen and Fife Lake.

PRESTON SAID the company will construct 83 miles of distribution mains and about 16 miles of supply lines to serve an estimated 3,200 customers. The Higgins Lake area expansion is by far the largest of the projects, costing about $1 million and requiring some 53 miles of mains and 2.5 miles of supply line. Preston said gas mains would be extended around the lake to serve all but the sparsely populated northern and northeastern corner. Higgins Lake will become part of the Northern District's Grayling Area of operations.

Gen. Tel. To Improve Local Phone Service

GAYLORD, October 14 — Nearly $3 million will be expended by General Telephone for service improvements and expansion in its Northern Division in 1966, Earl W. Lankheet, Northern Division Manager for the company, has announced.

"Of the $2.8 million expenditure now planned for the northern division in 1966, a major portion will be used to further reduce the number of parties per line to a maximum of four in suburban exchanges, a primary company objective," Lankheet said.

"Additional funds will be expended to relocate the Roscommon toll service, a project which will provide improved long-distance service, including Direct Distance Dialing, for our Roscommon-Grayling area customers."

Meeting called to order at 12:20 p. m. by President Sal Truettner. The treasurer's report and list of bills were read by Billie Forbes. Motion by Bill Kraus, seconded by Bill Tufts that this report be accepted and the bills paid. Passed.

The application of two new members, Clare Madsen Jr.'s Riverside Texaco and Gene Spence's Great Northern Texaco were read to the board. Motion by John Latuszek, seconded by Bill Kraus these two businesses be accepted into the Chamber membership. Passed.

President Truettner asked for comments on a column to be placed in the Avalanche each week by the president relative to informing the local public of Chamber activities. This suggestion was well received.

Mail: Manager Chum Longworth informed the Board of the annual EMTA dinner meeting to be held in Bay City October 21. The Chamber president and manager along with the chairman of the Board of Supervisors plan to attend.

A letter of confirmation for the Chamber, Mt. Fredrick, Skyline, and Grayling Winter Sports Park booth at the Ski Show has been received.

A communication from the Holiday Rambler Travel Trailer Club was read requesting information as to availability of a site for their encampment next July. The Board felt we had not the facilities for such an activity at this particular time of the year.

Manager Longworth reported on the Whitetail Roundup. It was felt that with success of this promotion this year, the area would be reminded that this was not made into an annual activity.

Don Welser reported on the Red-coat Roundup. Preliminary plans are well underway. Printed flyers have been received and will be distributed to downstate businesses. A series of news releases will be sent in the next few weeks.

The membership Committee under the direction of John Latuszek will meet for a coffee hour at 10:00 a. m. Wednesday, October 20, and calls will be made to prospective new members.

President Truettner started the discussion on the name change for the Chamber. This item had been tabled, but had been reported in previous Board minutes so that the businesses in Crawford County would be aware of the action. With considerable discussion by the Board and because there has been no negative feeling from the area, by unanimous vote of the Board, the Crawford County Chamber of Commerce will now be known as the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce serving Frederic, Grayling and Lovells. This motion was made by Sandy Thompson, seconded by Chuck Kroll. Passed.

Designs for new letterhead were presented to the Board for inspection and authorization given for action.

Motion by Billie Forbes, seconded by Don Welser that this meeting be adjourned at 1:45 p. m.

Next regular meeting will be held October 28, 12:00 o'clock noon, Wharf's Dinner Bell Inn.

Annual Audit of City of Grayling

September 7, 1965

TO THE HONORABLE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL CITY OF GRAYLING, MICHIGAN

I have examined the balance sheets as of June 30, 1965 of the GENERAL FUND, CEMETERY PERPETUAL CARE AND MAUSOLEUM FUND, WATER WORKS FUND, SEWAGE TREATMENT FUND with respect to the CITY OF GRAYLING, MICHIGAN, and their related statements of revenues and expenditures for the fiscal year then ended. My examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as I considered necessary in the circumstances, except that I did not confirm the receivable items by direct correspondence with the debtors.

In my opinion, except for the fact that I did not confirm the receivable items by direct correspondence with the debtors, the accompanying balance sheets and related statements of revenue and expenditures present fairly the position of the several named funds of the CITY OF GRAYLING, MICHIGAN, at June 30, 1965, and the financial transactions of these funds for the fiscal year then ended in conformity with generally accepted principles of municipal accounting applied on a basis consistent in all material respects with that of the preceding year.

CLIFFORD E. PETERSON, C. P. A.

THE ANSWER IS — R. & D.

There was a time when the verb "race" was generally applied to athletic contests of one kind or another, whether between horses or humans or machines. That is still true, to an extent. But there is a difference. The nations, young and old, are all racing each other these days in a massive effort to obtain leadership, or at least standing, in a thousand and one fields—military power, standards of living, economic superiority, the conquest of outer space, and just plain status in a fiercely competitive world.

Only history can tell who will fly the winner's flag at the end of all these. But, meanwhile, the United States can find reason for optimism. Our technology is advancing at a rate that can fairly be described as incredible—and that, probably, is generally little known.

A recent article in Time magazine began with this paragraph: "From drugs to golf carts, house paint to brassieres, the space age is beginning to produce some down-to-earth byproducts for U. S. business. Just as the necessities of World War II led to such lasting innovations as the jet plane and the aerosol spray, the $5 billion-a-year exploration of space has started a beneficial fallout of commercial products and processes that promises profound effects on the economy and on U. S. life." These products run an extraordinarily wide gamut—from railway tank cars made of lightweight plastics that weigh only half as much as steel cars to a paint that is impervious to just about everything. Quality controls have been vastly improved. And much more lies just in the offing. Time quotes an executive of the Houston Manned Spacecraft Center as saying: "Any prediction of what will happen in the next five years will be ultraconservative."

Back of it all lies research. And that, in the words of U. S. News and World Report, is "One Big Race U. S. is Winning." To quote the magazine again, "The race for leadership in today's world, all-signs now suggest, is to go the nation that outdistances all others in research and development—in technology. Right now in this most important of races, the United States is far out in front, and continuing to gain."

The European nations, U. S. News goes on to say, are definitely concerned about what is called the "brain drain" to this country. More and more scientists, for instance, mainly British and West German, have been emigrating to the United States because we offer them better opportunities and facilities to pursue their work. Here some $20-billion a year goes into "R. & D"—research and development. No other European nation spends even remotely as much. So, U. S. News reports, "The list of new products that already have sprung from U. S. research seems almost endless: color television, synthetic fibers, artificial leather, plastics, 'convenience foods', electronic devices. In computers and jet engines, in space communications and miracle drugs, in biochemistry and precision optics, the U. S. is taking a commanding lead." And this involves devices and innovations of defense and war no less than those which are designed to contribute to the arts of peace. A French leader is quoted as saying, "To put it bluntly, the whole French nuclear striking force is dependent upon U. S. know-how."

Innovation, in other words, has become a major American industry. U. S. News ends its revealing account with these words: "It is this dedication to scientific progress that has put the U. S. far ahead of all other nations in the world-wide technological race. From all present signs, there is no rival anywhere in sight to challenge this position."

The Bradford Lake Study Group met with hostess Mrs. Kenneth Reed October 19th at her home on Bradford Lake. The meeting was postponed two weeks due to the absence of half the members on vacation (at present there are only four of us).

As we had all attended the Conservation School at Higgins Lake for the subjects given at that time we reviewed them, each of us giving the part she had attended. The subjects were Houseplants, Home cleaning equipment and Household Products. We found all of them interesting and learned a few more pointers. In the continued absence of Mrs. Frank Midkiff whose husband is still very ill Mrs. Worthey agreed to act as secretary too.

The next meeting will be Nov. 3 at Mrs. Worthey's home on Horseshoe Lake at 8 p. m. Subject will be "What is new in Family Fabrics."

FRED BEAR RETURNS TO MOZAMBIQUE ADVENTURES

Fred Bear has done it again. The much traveled archery manufacturer and renowned bowhunter safaried through Mozambique, Portuguese East Africa, again this summer and added a brace of mammoth Cape buffalo and a lion to the extraordinary list of big game trophies he has taken with bow and arrow.

Last year, Fred, holder of numerous Pope and Young records, brought down a four-ton bull elephant with a single arrow in the same country—among the dozens of trophies bearing testimony to his prowess as a hunter are a towering kodiak bear and a Bengal tiger.

Fred, president of Bear Archery Company, Grayling, along with eight other Americans, including

James Crowe of the Detroit News and New York photographers Robert Halmi and Zolt Vidor, set out in early June to film a sequence on hunting Cape buffalo. They were assisted by a handful of white hunters from Safarilandia, Ltd., which has hunting rights in Mozambique.

The Cape buffalo is rated by experienced hunters as one of the most dangerous beasts of the bush. Fred found out why on the first day of the hunt.

His party was trekking through the high grass when a charging bull scattered the natives ahead. The animal turned on Fred and guide Wally Johnson, Sr. Wally dropped the buffalo, moving at express train speed, with a quick shot over the lowered horns. The beast collapsed a scant 10 feet from the pair.

On the second day Fred brought down his first buffalo with one arrow.

They were slashing through the brush in their Toyota (hunting car) in an area natives described as good buffalo country. It was fairly open. A small scattering of bushes and an occasional thicket were broken here and there by dongas or creek bottoms, heavily timbered and brushy.

Suddenly, Fred caught a glimpse of a buffalo in a thicket. They circled the area in the car and found tracks of two buffalo leading into the donga. Wally told Luiz, another professional hunter, to take his rifle and flush them out while the main party got over to the other side. They no sooner got there than a pair of huge bulls came charging out, heading straight for the car.

What ensued was a mechanized bull fight fought at 20 miles an hour. The little hunting car bounced over the rough ground, pursued by the larger of the two buffaloes.

Juca, one of the natives, was sitting on the back seat holding a camera and rifle when one buffalo charged from the right and hit the car on the back panel. The charge jolted the rear end, jerking it over about three feet and ripping off the spare tire. The impact threw Juca off on the side toward the buffalo. Wally brought the car to a screeching halt, but Juca jumped up and ran for safety.

Fred Bear, describing what followed, says, "I jumped out on my side of the car and got an arrow on the string as the buffalo galloped past me headed for the bush. He was quartering away at about 35 yards when the arrow hit him going into the rib cage. We found him dead 300 yards away with green paint from the Toyota ground into his horns."

Getting the desired films, the primary purpose of the safari, took several weeks of intensive stalking and observing waterholes from a blind. The payoff came at the end of this period when Fred was able to approach an isolated bull near a herd of six shooting down an alley in the high grass. Fred bagged his second Cape buffalo of the safari while the big movie cameras recorded the event.

Each of Fred's bulls weighed over 1,000 pounds and had horns wide enough for a man to ride on.

With the safari's mission accomplished, most of the Americans in Fred's party made ready to leave. Fred, however, hearing of the presence of a number of lions in the area, was infected with "lion fever." He had hunted a Bengal tiger in India a few years ago but had never bagged a lion. He decided to extend his visit to Mozambique and try his luck with the fabled King of Beasts.

After a false start, in which he missed killing a big cat that saw him raise up to shoot and scooted off into the bush, Fred finally got his prize.

On Monday of that week the hunters had roamed the country looking for lion tracks and had scanned the skies for circling vultures that could pinpoint a lion kill. Fred's birds will lead hunters to buffalo, but it's vultures who tell where a lion is.

No kills were found. They did find an area with lion tracks in evidence and shot a wildebeest for bait. The carcass was dragged behind the car in a wide circle before being chained to a tree. They built a blind there and spent the night in it.

The next day they found a spot well sprinkled with tracks of a large lion. Two wildebeest were shot, one of which was dragged around behind the car to lay a scent trail. Then both carcasses were chained to lonely tree about 18 yards from a thicket like circle of trees.

The next day they found that two large cats had been feeding one of the carcasses. It was almost a certainty that the lions would resume their feast that evening.

The hunters went back to camp for blankets and food and returned in the afternoon to build a blind. It wasn't necessary to watch wind direction since lions, like leopards and tigers, have very poor sense of smell. The hunting car was driven inside and used as part of the barricade. Some of the men chopped and grubbed at the underbrush while the rest got everything ready for a night in the blind. A wild shriek from Luiz stopped all operations.

He had come upon a python coiled up on the ground. The snake was under a clump of bushes he had been chopping out. Fred carefully put a blunt-headed arrow through the snake's head. He figured that it would make a fine trophy and had the 12½ foot python hung over a bush nearby.

After the sun went down, all lay flat and motionless in the blind. At 5:40 p. m. there was a sudden crackling of bones indicating a lion was at the bait. Fred picked up the 66 pound Bear Kodiak bow which lay at his feet, an arrow already nocked on the string. He eased to his knees, keeping low to avoid having this cat spot him too soon. The light was poor. He could see two lions on about 18 yards, both males, and both of them saw him.

Lions are fearless at night, and it is difficult to remember that they can see as well in poor light as man can in broad daylight. "Both cats were lying down," Fred says, "one almost broadside, facing me slightly, and the other one behind him staring at me head on. I felt an urgency to shoot quickly. The light was too poor to see the path of the arrow or where it hit, but there was no doubt that it did strike home when no time elapsed between the hit and first vicious roar."

back one shot off to the left. The wounded cat, growling and snarling, started to rush the blind to eliminate his tormentor but changed his mind at the last minute and veered to the left, passing very close to the blind. The roar as he passed was earsplitting.

By this time it was pitch dark. There is not much twilight in Africa.—Fred wasn't long wondering where at least one of the lions went. A shattering roar rattled the leaves of the blind. One of the lions or both, was out there 20 yards away in the black night.

A wounded lion is not to be trifled with even in daytime. They could only guess that this was the wounded one, bent for revenge, sitting out there looking for the best spot to leap in the blind to land fang and claw on the greatest concentration of human flesh.

There was another series of prolonged roars and snarls. Fred says that even now he can vividly recall all the details of that spine-chilling night. He relates, "I remember asking myself, 'What am I doing here?' My insurance company told me before I went on this trip that they would reduce my rate $500 dollars a thousand if I quit all this crazy business. Now, for the first time, I began to see that this made sense."

There was another hour of agonizing silence. The tension in the blind was stifling.

Fred was worried that the natives would break and run or climb a tree for safety. As if to test their resolve, there was another roar that made the vibrating, bone-shaking blast of an ocean liner sound like a child's toy horn.

The night was cold. The temperature was down to 50 degrees and each roar of the lion seemed to send it down another degree. At 9:30 Luiz said he could hear a lion tearing flesh. He speculated that it was feeding on the dead lion. No one replied, but all listened intently and, following another raging blash, the rest also could hear the ripping of flesh and clicking of teeth. This was an electrifying development. For the first time they had a valuable clue. It was highly unlikely that a wounded lion would be eating, and lion that was not wounded would certainly be less of a problem. With a sigh of relief, everyone in the blind relaxed.

At 10 Luiz whispered that the lion was tearing up the dead cat's skin. Fred was fearful that his trophy would be ruined. He had Wally fire a shot in the air to try to scare the other lion off. The big cat didn't scare easily, however, and just increased the volume and frequency of his roars.

FRED THOUGHT of a hopeful angle. It didn't seem possible that the hit lion could have dropped such a short distance from the blind. Unless struck in the head, neck or spine, animals usually run 150 to 200 yards after being hit by an arrow.

At 11:45, right after another screaming roar, the natives announced their ultimatum. "We go home, or we all climb a tree." Wally considered this for a few minutes and asked Fred what he thought of trying to make a break for it in the car. All agreed, and the party inched over to the Toyota.

"We took nothing but the guns," Fred relates. "It was difficult getting into the car quietly with all the brush and branches we had piled over it, but we felt an urgency that made anything possible. The car started on the first try. Wally switched on the lights, gunned the motor, and we bulldozed through our barricade with a burst of speed that almost threw us all out again."

"We raced out for 200 yards and then made circle to sweep our backtracks with lights to make sure we were not being followed and then headed back for camp."

Early the next morning Fred returned to the blind. The lion had eaten part of the python, but Fred's big cat was found untouched 200 yards away. The arrow had entered low, back of the forelegs, and had pierced both lungs. As a trophy it was a perfect specimen, a 10-foot male weighing 460 pounds.

Last year it was "The Day of the Elephant," this year "A Return to Mozambique" for two more denizens of the African Plain. What lies ahead, Fred has not yet picked his next target. But 1965 still has four months to go. Anything may happen.

Meanwhile, Fred Bear has returned to Grayling to resume the less dangerous pursuit of making and improving archery tackle so that bowhunters everywhere will gain from his experiences.

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

Elephants AND GOD

Gary was three years old the other day. We took him as a birthday treat for his first trip to the zoo. He dearly loved all of the animals, but the peak of adventure was the great gray trunks snuffle and find his bravely flung peanuts, then stuff them into giant crunching jaws.

"Oh," he breathed adoringly, "elephants are big... as big as God!"

His arm tightened around my neck as he leaned to throw more nuts to his jumbo friends and I hugged him close, glad that already he has learned to see God everywhere.

I, myself, was almost grown before I realized God's "ever-presence" and the strength this knowledge brings, so it has been a great joy to watch the awareness of this truth develop early in my son.

Why don't you go to your church and take your child with you? It is the most important experience you can share with him.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL - ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a living Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and read your Bible daily.

1. For his own sake.
2. For his children's sake.
3. For the sake of his community and nation.
4. For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Mr. and Mrs. Rod Powers of CMU, Mt. Pleasant, visited her parents, the Arthur Carlsons, over the weekend. Mrs. Powers attended a baby shower Saturday evening for Mrs. Larry Gust at the home of Mrs. Alex Atkinson, at which Sharon Williams and Karen Atkinson were cohostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Plagens and Mr. and Mrs. Will Cook of Armada, and the former's brother Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Plagens of Richmond, were here the first of the week getting things ready for hunting season.

They returned home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Ross of Indianapolis, Ind., left Sunday after visiting her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Olin Williamson, the past week. Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Boram of McCordsville, Ind., returned home Saturday after being the guests of the week. Both couples were present for the O.E.S. installation Saturday in which the Williamsons took office as worthy Matron and Worthy Patron. Other guests here for the installation were Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Barlow and Mrs. Clara Bailey, Detroit.

HARVEST SUPPER SERVES OVER 300

The annual Harvest Supper at Michelson Memorial Church Thursday evening served three hundred persons between five and seven o'clock. The tables were set with baskets of fruit, cattails, cornucopias, hurricane lamps and colored leaves to reflect the fall season. The family style service insured everyone had his or her fill of the delectable food.

Assisting Mrs. Jack Waincott with tickets at the door were Mrs. Rex McMillen and Mrs. Burton McWilliams. Circle No. 6 was in charge of the dining room. Mrs. Gert Ender and Mrs. Emma Knibbs chairmen of the kitchen. Mrs. Clarence Gross had charge of turkeys. Mrs. K. K. Kitchen was chairman of pies. Mrs. Dale Pettengill was cleanup chairman. PTA Report

The Grayling PTA held its October meeting Monday in the high school library. In the absence of President Dorothy Feldhauser, First Vice-President, Marlene Feldhauser called the meeting to order at 8 p. m.

The secretary's report was read and motion made by Mrs. Konvicka seconded by Kathy White to accept the report as read. The treasurer's report was given and on motion of Mrs. Konvicka seconded by Earl Gierke was also accepted as read. There was no unfinished business.

Mrs. Joe White, Jr. asked for volunteer help on start day. The first vice-president will try to recruit help for her. Mrs. Robert Bovee pointed out the need for seven mothers to help on hall duty at the elementary school. First vice-president Feldhauser will try to get them. Mrs. Feldhauser introduced the guest for the evening, exchange student George Stancil, who gave a very interesting and informative talk on his trip to Holland and his Dutch parents and the school system there. Very educational slides were also shown.

Secretary Marie Hatfield read an announcement from the Hot Lunch Committee in which they would like comments regarding the hot lunch program, pro and con, from parents, teachers and students, with their signatures. A container will be placed at the high school gym dining area for these.

Coffee and doughnuts were served by Mrs. Hazen Hatfield and Mrs. Marvin Hallett.

On motion of Mr. Pat Cox seconded by Robert Bovee the meeting adjourned.
